Connecting students to careers, health professionals to communities, and communities to better health.

What is AHEC?

Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) are educational pipelines to help improve access to and quality of care for rural and underserved communities and individuals through health professions education, health career development, and community and public health promotion activities. The AHEC Network works to improve health by leading the nation in the recruitment, training and retention of a diverse health workforce for underserved communities.

To find healthcare jobs on our website please follow these steps:

Job placement for graduates of health professions programs

- ◆ Visit the Northwest IL AHEC website at <http://ahec.rockford.uic.edu/nwilahec/>.
- ◆ Click job search located under Community Resources.
- ◆ Each healthcare facility is listed by county.
- ◆ By clicking on a healthcare facility it will take you directly to their website with current employment opportunities and application process.

Our goal at the Northwest Illinois Area Health Education Center is to educate graduating college students on career opportunities that are available.
